FOREWORD

We leave this publication of the Epitome to those who have a definite interest in our school. We hope to present two views to its readers: to recall to the alumnus those days when he acquired book knowledge, and to form a garden of memory for those who have enjoyed with us this inspiring year of work and play.

Administration

*Teachers look forward with honest pride
To follow this class of '35,
They send them along with a cheery smile
Hoping that all will do things worth while.*

SCHOOL BOARD

JACK BLAND

Mr. Bland, newly appointed trustee, is honorably filling the place vacated by Mrs. Leora Waltz.

WILLARD STAHR

Mr. Stahr, with his ability and personality, fits nicely in the treasurership of the board.

CLARENCE STOUT

Mr. Stout has been a valuable man in maintaining the standards of the school.

The worth of the board is measured by the efficiency of the school. No board can do its best work unless it has the support of the patrons of the community.

Classes

*Like boys and girls I enjoy each day,
No matter the toil or strife.
With a sparkle and vim I travel along
And get real joy out of life.*

ELIZABETH BRUCE

In life I find there's lots of fun,
But when there's work, I'll get it done.

FRANCES ADAMSON

Of all the nice girls, the sweetest and best,
You'd not have them all till Frances you'd guessed.

JIM HARTIG

Jim is the Senior most wisely inclined,
He always keeps his goal well in mind.

FREDERIC ALLEN

Likes work, takes time for fun,
Won't give up till the task is done.

VIRGINIA BOGUE

Always happy to be helpful,
Kind, and a friend to all.

BARBARA STEWART

If she will, she will. You can depend on it.
If she won't, she won't. That's the end of it.

EDITH MYERS

Laugh and be happy, that's what I do,
I never worry, so why should you?

VIRGINIA ALFREY

She loves tranquil solitude
And such society as is quiet and good.

ALFRED CHAMBERLAIN, JR.

Up and coming and on his way,
Don't worry—he'll get there some sunny day.

JACK PASS

A little nonsense now and then
Is relished by the best of men.

NAOMI PERSONETTE

Big ideas are the rungs to success.
She should find that and happiness.

AMERENTHE WESCOTT

On the threshold, then over the top,
She wants success, so she'll never stop.

MARJORIE BROWN

She laughs and giggles her way through life,
With never a moment of care or strife.

IRENE TROTH

Although she appears demur and quiet,
Short acquaintance will belie it.

FREDERICK LANNERD

Something accomplished, something begun
I taste the joys of work well done.

LLOYD KUHN

Cleverness and jovialism make no amend,
Join with us and be our friend.

BETTY GRAY

A pal of the class, both loyal and true,
Helping with things that others don't do.

MARY JEANNE DOUGHERTY

She's short, she has blue eyes, and dark brown hair,
Her complexion and spirit are both very fair.

DOROTHA INNIS

Not how much, but how well you do it,
That's her motto and she sticks to it.

FRANCES LEE

Without halting, without rest,
I weave in colors all my own.

MORRIS FOUTZ

He's battled his way through many a game;
That's why we think he'll win great fame.

CHARLES HORMEL

Chucked full of nonsense, brimful of fun,
If you want a good time, Jess is the one.

LARTHENIA COOMES

She does her bit and does it now,
She was never known to break a vow.

JUNE HOOVER

A smile for all, a welcome glad,
A jovial, patient way she had.

GEORGIA SCOTT

She advertises her likes and keeps her dislikes as guarded secrets.

ELENEIDA CRAIG

It's good to be merry and wise,
It's best to be honest and true,

LOWELL LESTER

With Lowell one may always find
A jolly, laughing, lively time.

JOHN LEAVELL

Everything happens for the best;
I'll take the good things and forget the rest.

NAOMI PETRY

Silence has a great advantage over speech;
You never have to take it back.

DOROTHY FOUST

She talks, she laughs, and sometimes she's sad,
But we all know what a good time she's had.

VIRGIL HALSTEAD

No matter how dark the clouds
There is always a silver lining.

EMOGENE WILKINSON

Always willing and ready to aid,
Of such good stuff true friends are made.

MILDRED MILLER

I might do wonders but I won't;
I'll do my bit and make everyone glad.

GLEN RAMEY

My word is my word;
You guess its meaning.

DOYLE BROWN

He goes to work when school is done;
If you need a friend, Doyle is the one.

RAYMOND MENDENHALL

Little! Yes, little and mighty, you say.
Yet a smile for you just any old day.

EUGENE HOWELL

He builds for character, not for fame;
Why should he fight for a world-known name?

NORA HALL

She does not wait for the tide to come in,
She knows if you do, you will never win.

JOHN CLEMENTS

Moodiness and daydreaming go hand in hand.
Yet if you ask, you'll know how he stands.

JUNIORS

Marfield Cain and Martha Castle were in charge of the Juniors, who were headed for the last year of school.

The class officers were:

President	Frederic Woollard
Vice-president	Jack Scott

EIGHTH GRADE

The sponsors of the eighth grade were Theodore Sedgewick and Alida E. Morris.

The following were members of this class: Beulah R. Allen, Joshua Allen, Marjorie Allen, Marcelle Allread, Melvin Belt, Richard Bookout, Helen Burroughs, Robert Cartmell, Reba Davis, Theda Fosnight, Hazel Hammond, Marion Harcourt, Maxine Hoover, Jimmie Jones, Mildred Jordan, Laurence Lester, Robert McShirley, Vernon Metsker, Iolene Miller, Wallace Moore, Retta Brooks, Theda Monroe, Alice Myers, Jimmie Pass, Laurence Petty, Annabell Retherford, Louise Retherford, Herman Rhodus, Beryl Scott, John Robert Siegrist, Betty Irene Smith, Raymond Smith, Wilma Smith, Mary Louise Stenzle, Barbara Stonecipher, Elmer Taylor, Robert Taylor, Frank Waltz, Warren Mahoney, Cleo Weaver, Roy Werking, James Wright, Charles Alexander.

SEVENTH GRADE

These young boys and girls were sponsored by Martha Castle and Ermadine Lester. At the first of the year these students had to become accustomed to the routine of the school. Seemingly it didn't take them long to learn the customs and rules.

The following were in the seventh grade: Mary Lou Baker, Leo Bancy, Evangeline Carter, J. B. Copenhaver, Mary Louise Cleveland, Beulah Crull, Kittura Deaver, Mabel Doerstler, Ida Drischel, Audrey Dumford, Annabelle Dyke, Philip Frantz, Donald Hall, David Hunt, James Innis, Esther Jones, Margaret Jones, Betty La Velle, John Lundy, Emma Miller, Everett Miller, Russel Miller, Marshall Mohler, Robert Petty, Elizabeth Pickett, Ralph Ramey, William Rhodus, Edna Shields, Edwin Shields, Harold Smith, Roalie Smith, Paul Stewart, Betty Swoveland, Violet Thalls, Dean Thornburg, Margaret Thornburg, Lucille Townsend, Martin Ulerick, Phyllis Ulrich, Edna Wallace, Doris Warfel, John Wells, Lone Worl, Anne Wright.

Class of '35

*Our high school days are over
And with sorrow we turn aside.
A new life begins tomorrow
For this class of '35.*

*Ties of friendship will be severed
As we go our separate ways,
But we'll always look back with loving thoughts
To our school pals of yesterday.*

*Fortune and fame will come to some,
Stony paths to a few.
Life never again will be quite the same
When we trade old friends for new.*

*We always shall remember
The joyful hours we spent
In the good old Hagerstown High School
Tho' our forms with age are bent.*

*We shall always lovingly remember
How teachers would daily strive
To see that each one could finish
In the class of '35.*

Organizations

*Our organizations stand today,
As stepping stones upon our way.
The good we get well might be
Like this stately building all may see.*

HI-Y CLUB

The Hi-Y Club was a worthy organization in which fifty-four boys of high school age were enrolled.

Our purpose was to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian character. Our slogan was, "Let's stand for clean speech, clean sports, clean scholarship, and clean living." Our program committee this year functioned, and we had very good programs.

Our meetings were held every two weeks.

When we had meetings, we went through the following outline:

The president called the meeting to order.

The devotion period was observed.

Announcements were given by our leader, Mr. Heniser.

Then the meeting was turned over to the program chairman.

The officials of the Hi-Y Club were as follows:

President	Fred Allen
Vice-president	Jimmy Hartig
Secretary	Jack Scott
Treasurer	Richard Oler

GIRL RESERVE

The Girl Reserve Club this year had approximately seventy members. The officers were as follows:

President	Elizabeth Bruce
Vice-president	Virginia Bogue
Program Chairman.....	Frances Adamson
Secretary	Mary Alice Harlan
Treasurer	June Hoover

This year the organization was slightly different. The Club was divided into interest groups which were: crafts, sports, dramatics, books and music, Bible study, and charm and personality. Each of these groups selected a girl and an outside advisor as leaders. At least twice a month there were meetings of the interest groups, and once during each month there was a general meeting.

On January 16 the annual Mother and Daughter Banquet was held with approximately 230 in attendance. The speaker was Mrs. "Chic" Jackson, who is called "Indiana's story-teller." Her subject was "Always Two Sides." Everyone enjoyed her talk very much.

The Club sent three girls, Elizabeth Bruce, Frances Adamson, and Helen Waltz, to two Girl Reserve Summer camps in 1934. In April, there was a Girl Reserve Conference at this school. Members from the following schools attended: Muncie, Richmond, Portland, Williamsburg, and Cambridge City.

ORCHESTRA

The orchestra consisted of thirty-six members who studied both classic and modern compositions. They played on various occasions during the year, including spring concert and commencement.

Miss Neff said they were a fine bunch of young people, full of fun and pep—but also capable of hard work.

HARMONICA BAND

And this was the Harmonica Band. This group of musicians were really interested in their work. It was composed of pupils of the seventh grade. This bunch could really blow those harmonicas and make good music.

Incidentally, Hagerstown was the first school in Wayne County to organize a Harmonica Band.

In addition, these players tried making various instruments and became fairly proficient in playing on the bottle-phone.

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

Our High School Boys' Glee Club was small in numbers but great in volume of sound produced. They sang in the Christmas program and spring concert. Each boy was required to sing solos in class and also to sing in quartet formation.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

2017010

This fine looking bunch comprised the Girls' Glee Club. There were two sections, one meeting on Tuesday and one on Friday. They took part in the Christmas cantata and sang two numbers, "The First Christmas Carol" and "Under the Star Light." Of course they also had a part in the spring concert.

The girls made a study of classical music, each one selecting and learning a song that she particularly liked. This created an appreciation of the better class of music.

CHORUS

Ladies and Gentlemen! Allow us to present the Chorus of "Ye Old H. H. S."

The personnel of the Chorus included twenty-four sopranos, eleven altos, four tenors and nine bassos.

"Variety is the spice of life"—so the members studied a varied list of compositions by Handel, Balfe, Wagner, Gounod and other classical composers, contrasted with strains of lighter compositions, such as "Glow Worm," "Bells of St. Mary's," "Listen to the Lambs," and folk songs, sung both a cappella and with accompaniment.

At Christmas the chorus presented the cantata "Bethlehem's Holy Night" in a candle-light service, which was beautiful both in setting and rendition. They also assisted in the Annual Spring Music Festival.

The only real difficulty they encountered during the year was when "Mr. Flu" tried to join the chorus, and then the "croakings" were not always in tune and occasionally interfered with "Special Program Day"!

ART

Goethe has said, "Art rests upon a kind of religious sense; it is deeply and ineradicably in earnest. Thus it is that art so willingly goes hand in hand with religion." So the class feels it is in sympathy with Hagerstown's ideals and standards.

Though the class is not large, there is a great interest among the members. There were not only the old art students and the new ones planning to take up art, but also others interested in discussing their projects. There seemed to be a wide field of activity. Some were interested in crafts, others in the industrial arts, and still others in oil painting and metal works. Yet the chief aim of the class was to be able to create the beautiful and to understand the principles underlying this creation, and, in some instances, to create the beautiful from the ugly, thus giving one the ability to enrich his surroundings.

SPANISH

Bull fighting—balconies and beautiful Senoritas—Spanish heroes—conquests in America—gypsies—Granada—the Alhambra—these are the thoughts that flash through our minds when we think of Spain. However, Spanish is not just the language of a romantic past; it has also a place in the present. Of all the languages derived from Latin it is the most extensive. About forty-six million people in the world today speak French, forty million speak Italian, but eighty-five million speak Spanish. These eighty-five million people live, for the most part, in this hemisphere, in Mexico, Central America, South America, Cuba and the Philippines.

The history of the Spanish or Castilian language is closely interwoven with the history of Spain itself. Beginning as the Iberian language, it was affected by the Celts, Romans, Greeks, and Moors. The Latin language, introduced by the Romans, had the most lasting effect, for although it has undergone many changes, there are only a few types of words which do not show the Latin influence.

LATIN

The study of Latin is very important. It is the foundation of about three-fourths of the words in the English language.

The classes found that Latin was really interesting, although it required much deep concentration.

The second year class studied Caesar and learned of the value of his conquest to our civilization. They apparently enjoyed studying Caesar. Many novels were read in connection with Caesar and mythology.

The two classes presented a chapel program during the year. It was presented in the form of Roman boys in school and in Latin songs and Mother Goose rhymes which entertained the audience. A distinguished speaker, Mrs. Robert Fox, who was formerly a teacher in Athens, Greece, was on the program.

The pupils entered the State Latin Contest.

SCOUTS

The Boy Scouts of Hagerstown troops led by their leader Mr. Sedgewick, "Ted," have played an interesting part in Hagerstown and community programs and progress.

During the past year these lads and their leader have conducted a splendid chapel program and brought a magician, Mr. Reno, to town for student enjoyment. At the February Court of Honor the troop turned out 100% strong, receiving ten tenderfoot, two second class, five first class, and four eagle scout advancements. It is the only troop in the county to win the ten year program award for three consecutive years. The honors of the Western Jamboree held with Cambridge were taken by this troop.

There were other interesting things that the boys enjoyed, such as their trips to Lake James and Turkey Run, but most of all were their overnight hikes to Camp Wahpi Kamiki.

GIRL SCOUTS

The Girl Scouts assisted by Miss Ruth Dutro organized last January. This organization consisted of three patrols, each having five members and each having one capable leader. These leaders were Bettie Teetor, Emily Stahr, and Barbara Stonecipher.

As well as doing some hard work, these girls also had some good times. They took an overnight hike to the Scout Camp in October. They also had a Christmas party for poor children December 24, at the home of Emily Stahr.

Most of the girls progressed rapidly, for the majority of girls passed their second class tests after one year's work.

This group had some very excellent laws which were as follows:

1. A Girl Scout's honor is to be trusted.
2. A Girl Scout is loyal.
3. A Girl Scout's duty is to be useful and to help others.
4. A Girl Scout is a friend to all and a sister to every other Girl Scout.
5. A Girl Scout is courteous.
6. A Girl Scout is a friend to animals.
7. A Girl Scout obeys orders.
8. A Girl Scout is cheerful.
9. A Girl Scout is thrifty.
10. A Girl Scout is clean in thought, word, and deed.

THE EXPONENT STAFF

The Exponent Staff was organized for the purpose of collecting news from each organization in our school and presenting it to the Exponent, to let the general public know some of the worth-while things the pupils in our school were doing.

Their efficient work was due mostly to their sponsor, Miss Alida E. Morris, and their editor-in-chief, Jack Scott. The other members who are to be congratulated on their splendid work were as follows:

Assistant Editor and Athletics.....	Carlos Jordan
Hi-Y	Charles Hornel
Girl Reserves.....	Harriette Fosnight
Seniors	Naomi Personette
Juniors	Mildred Hilbert
Sophomores	Thelma Bland
Freshmen	Ruby Needler
Eighth	Marjorie Allen
Seventh	Lucille Townsend
Future Farmers.....	Frederic Woollard
Agriculture	Herman Bookout
Home Economics.....	Mary Talbert
Grade School.....	Helen Waltz
Girl Scouts	Emily Stahr
General	Josinah Allen
Typists....	Eleneida Craig, Edith Myers, Georgia Scott

JUNIOR RED CROSS

There were 175 students enrolled in this organization. The officers were:

President Bettie Teetor
 Vice-president June Hoover
 Secretary Marjorie Shafer
 Treasurer Charles Hormel

Committees:

Health..... Bette Davis and Roy Werking
 Community.... Rosalie Smith and Barbara Stonecipher
 Veterans..... Walter Woodward and Bob Brower
 Foreign..... Blanch Paddock and Russel Miller
 Institutional.... Clarence Nicholson and Irene Sherry

The Junior Red Cross conducted a Senior Roll Call, resulting with a total of 136 Senior Red Cross members.

This organization presented a chapel program during the year. The speaker for this occasion was Mr. G. E. Jones, a nationally known Red Cross speaker.

The Junior Red Cross received a year book from South Africa. This organization sent an American flag to India.

Old magazines were collected to send to the Veterans' Hospital at Marion and the Day Nursery and Martha Smith Home at Richmond.

There was much cooperation shown by the council and other members of the Junior Red Cross during the year.

VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE

There were eleven Junior and Senior boys taking vocational agriculture this year. Their subjects studied were farm management and agricultural chemistry.

There were sixteen Freshmen and Sophomores enrolled, and their subjects studied were dairying, poultry, and horticulture.

The Vocational Agriculture Classes selected several bushels of seed corn, culled chicken flocks, tested soil, tested seed corn, tested cows in home dairy herds, and pruned and sprayed trees.

Every boy was required to have a home project and records kept up-to-date, as a means of learning good practices. The projects varied.

Among the trips taken were trips to farms for field work, to Sexton's Dairy Farm, Wayne Dairy Plant, Sugar Beet Factory, Soy Bean Factory, and Smith's Poultry Farm.

The classes were represented by a judging team in a corn judging contest at Purdue, and in the county livestock and dairy cattle judging contests.

The department put on an exhibit at the school exhibit.

It also won the trophy in the county pest campaign.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

The Future Farmers of America was organized in April 1934 with only vocational agriculture students eligible for membership. There were eighteen members with the officers as follows:

President	Paul Reed
Vice-president	Richard Oler
Secretary	Herman Bookout
Treasurer	Walter Woodward
Reporter	Frederic Woollard
Sergeant at Arms.....	Richard Cross

The purpose of this organization was to promote vocational agriculture, to develop social and leadership abilities, to encourage thrift, and to improve scholarship.

Their slogan was "Learning to do, Doing to learn, Learning to live, and Living to serve."

They were represented at the State Future Farmers of America meeting by Frederic Woollard, Leslie Burgess, Paul Reed, and Richard Cross.

Paul Reed won third place in the State F. F. A. Public Speaking Contest at Purdue University.

Twelve members took a camping trip to Lake James last summer.

COMMERCIAL

There was a total of one hundred four students in Miss Van Horn's commercial classes.

These students were preparing themselves for an office job when they should graduate from high school.

The classes that were connected with the commercial course were bookkeeping, first year advanced shorthand, and first year advanced typing.

There were twenty-nine enrolled in the two classes of shorthand.

There were forty-five enrolled in the two typing classes and twenty-six enrolled in the Senior bookkeeping.

It is presumed that most of the students enrolled in the commercial course enjoyed it very much, since such a large number enrolled in these classes.

SCIENCE

The Health Class of the first semester made experiments on guinea pigs. They also tested drinking water for typhoid fever, and they made some bacteria counts in milk.

The health class of the first semester sponsored a chapel. They had as a speaker Martha Van Meter from the State Tuberculosis Association of Indianapolis, who explained the ways of preventing tuberculosis.

The experiment on guinea pigs was as follows: Five of them received no vitamins, no sunshine, and they lived three days. Two received no vitamin b or c, and at the end of a day they developed beriberi, which on the tenth day caused paralyzation. They also turned red on parts of their skin with scurvy; they died on the eleventh day. The next one received no protein for fourteen days and gradually lost weight. When protein was included in the diet, he started gaining, but when protein was again taken out, he started losing. The next one was given a complete diet, and he gained weight until whiskey was added to his diet; then he started losing weight, and he became very nervous. The last one had a complete diet; he gained weight and was normal.

The study of home economics is very important in training our future home makers.

Since this is a profession that is being followed by approximately 97 per cent of the girls and women, the fact is evident that every girl should be trained in this profession. It is necessary to get all knowledge and training possible, in order to keep the home machinery running smoothly. These girls are getting this training and knowledge through the home economics courses.

There were forty-four students enrolled in the home economic classes, divided into the following groups: freshmen, advanced, and special advanced students.

The classes studied about the care of the home, child care, home nursing, food planning and preparation, and the care and construction of clothing.

Their instruction was along the line of theories, as studied in the volumes of "up-to-date" reference books; in addition the girls had laboratory work, demonstrations, home problems, and educational field trips.

Some of the results of this field of training were evidenced to the patrons of the community at a local exhibit, held in the high school building in April.

The ultimate aim of our home economic courses is not only happier home membership in our present homes, but also more efficient home making in the future.

MANUAL TRAINING

There was a total of sixty-five boys taking manual training this year. These boys learned to make many useful and educational things. They also made some very good Christmas presents for their mothers.

Some of the useful things that were made were sewing cabinets, end tables, foot stools, magazine racks, and medicine cabinets.

Wood work was not the only work done in manual training. They also had tin shop, electrical work, and mechanical drawing shop.

These boys took great pride in showing their work at the School Exhibit, which was held in the high school building in April.

"THE GOOSE HANGS HIGH"

"The Goose Hangs High," a most interesting three-act comedy, by Lewis Beach, was presented by the Senior Class, November 14 and 15.

The story takes place during the Christmas vacation, in a colonial home, long lived in by a family of breeding and taste.

A few days after Christmas the father, Bernard Ingals, is forced to resign from his position as city assessor. This places the family in a desperate financial state. The twins, Lois and Bradley, persuade their grandmother to invest her money in a friend's business. This investment gives their father a position. The family has a Happy New Year instead of the undecided one, which a few days before had been evident.

The play was considered a great success. This was largely due to the excellent coaching by Miss Ermadine Lester.

The cast was as follows: Bernard Ingals, James Hartig; Eunice Ingals, Mary Jeanne Dougherty; Noel Derby, Raymond Mendenhall; Leo Day, John Pass; Rhoda, Edith Myers; Julia Murdock, Amerenthe Wescott; Mrs. Bradley, Naomi Personette; Hugh Ingals, Frederic Allen; Ronald Murdock, Lowell Lester; Lois Ingals, Barbara Stewart; Bradley Ingals, Charles Hormel; Dagmar Carroll, Virginia Bogue; Elliott Kimberley, Lloyd Kuhn.

We wish to thank Mr. Charles N. Teetor for the interest he has taken in the progress of the school, especially for the stage equipment and improvement of the acoustics for the auditorium.

"MINICK"

The Junior Class presented a most appealing character comedy entitled "Minick," on the evenings of February 20 and 21.

All three acts took place in Fred and Nettie Minick's apartment in Chicago. Soon after the play opened, Old Man Minick, Fred's father, came to live with them. Many complications arose while he was there, such as interfering with Nettie's club meeting. Nettie threatened to leave Fred if the "Old Man" had to stay. Old Man Minick finally decided that contentment could only be found in an old man's home. He left and Nettie and Fred were reunited.

Through the work of the able cast and the capable coach, Miss Ermadine Lester, the play was very successful. The cast was as follows: Lil Corey, Sarah Wischart; Nettie Minick, Harriette Fosnight; Annie, Clara Rose Myers; Jim Corey, Robert Beeson; Fred Minick, Charles Parsons; Old Man Minick, Fred Woollard; Al Diamond, Henry Reece; Marge Diamond, Mary Alice Harlan; Lula, Helen Waltz; Mr. Dietenhofer, Garner Johnson; Mr. Price, Walter Woodward; Mrs. Smallridge, Evelyn Strickler; Miss Crackenwald, Ruth Kinsinger; Mrs. Lippincott, Marie Chamberlain; Miss Stock, Thelma Keeling.

Athletics

*There's work to be done, if you're willing
And ready to join in the game.
Be a man and do it as duty
And not for laurels or fame.*

FIRST TEAM

COACH AND TEAM

COACH MARFIELD CAIN

We owe much gratitude and thanks to Mr. Cain, our coach, for his spirit and remarkable work with the team. He worked hard and gained the confidence of the team and school, as well as the name of coach. To him was due much of the credit for the success of the team during the season.

MORRIS FOUTZ—was one of our indispensable men in the H. H. S. scoring machine. He played his position at forward with remarkable ability, being "there" on a defense as well as offense. He was a fast, clean player, and a crack shot at the basket. His accurate pass work from most any angle of the floor helped pile up the score. We were very sorry to lose Morris, because he was surely a star.

PAUL HARRIS—was another one of our fast forwards whose remarkable ability was displayed at all times. When it came to getting field goals, Paul was always on the job. He showed an unlimited amount of pluck and always played a clean game. We are very happy that Paul will be on deck next year.

HERMAN CROMIS—as a floor guard Herman has done some sensational work. His interest in athletics has been one of his marked characteristics. He studied sports as assiduously as he studied H. S. Geography. He was a consistent trainer and was always a valuable man to the squad. Herman will be with us again next year.

EDWARD DALE—had the reputation among the fans of being a fearless fighter. He stayed on his man until the last whistle had blown. His accuracy in long distance shots was remarkable.

OMAR DUMFORD—modest, square, quick and accurate in his work with the team. He handled the ball well and gave his best in training as well as playing.

RICHARD OLER—Hagerstown can afford to expect much out of Dick next year. His height was a great asset in jumping center. He was a consistent trainer and a conscientious player. The personnel of next year's team will be improved with this man as center.

HAROLD ALLEN—"Pete," through determination and work, pulled up to the first squad early in the year and proved his ability as a clever forward. He has one year left to demonstrate his ability.

VERNON FREEMAN—played his part at guard and center in a commendable manner and proved a valuable man for the H. H. S. outfit. No opponent was ever too large or too rough for him. We hope he will be with us for the next three coming years.

HERBERT LESTER—When the team wanted the ball, they all looked to Herbert for team work. We, in the bleachers, greatly appreciated the splendid work done by Herbert. He will be with us the next three years to continue "strutting his stuff."

SOFT BALL TEAM

This year was the first year that the Hagerstown School organized a soft ball team. It proved to be a success, because they played five games and took the trophy for the Wayne County championship. The schedule was as follows:

Date	Opponent	Place
Sept. 5	Centerville	2 Hagerstown..... 7
Sept. 12	Webster	0 Hagerstown..... 1
Sept. 19	Cambridge City	4 Hagerstown.....22
Sept. 26	Fountain City	3 Hagerstown.....18
Oct. 5	Boston	7 Hagerstown.....12

The members of this team were:

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The girls started out with a great ambition to win for themselves a place in Hagerstown athletics, under the able supervision of Miss Castle.

When the basketball season opened, the call for basketball girls was given and answered.

These girls with a great desire to accomplish something started the season of '34 and '35.

The following were the members of the team:

Betty Brown	Bettie Teetor
Ina Waltz	Mary Mohler
Irene Troth	Dellamay Medsker
Harriett Fosnight	Chloella Murray
Rosanna Roth	Frances Adamson
Helen Waltz	Effie Foulke
Marjorie Brown	Mary Alice Harlan
Eleanor Atkinson	Elizabeth Bruce
Dorothy Foust	Marjorie Reed
Evelyn Strickler	June Sulteen
Sarah Wischart	Marileen Shultz
Betty Lou Thalls	Irene Sherry
Audrey Gay	Thelma Bland
Emily Stahr	Betty Monroe
Mildred Strickler	Lucille Grey

YELL LEADERS

Shultz, Hall, and Strickler. These three were the hardest worked and hardest downed of any of the basketball fans. With their arrival on the floor there was a burst of enthusiasm which was carried throughout the game by their efforts. They never let up and much praise was due them for the splendid athletic spirit.

TRAINER

Lloyd held down the position of trainer with remarkable results. He always greeted everyone with a cheery smile and was glad to do anything for the cause of the team. We feel that he was almost an indispensable unit in the make up of our squad.

TENNIS

This year the Hi-Y sponsored a tennis tournament. This was the first one held in our school, but it is hoped not the last.

All who desired to play signed their names on a paper placed on the bulletin board. Girls' singles, boys' singles, and doubles were played. The games were played at a time convenient for both players.

Betty Brown won the girls' singles and Paul Earl Harris the boys' singles.

Novelties, Ads and Alumni

*Dear old town you stand today
Loved by the ones who've gone away,
Although you've grown now quite a lot
You'll always be a treasured spot.*

TEACHERS

The profession of teaching is remunerative not alone from the financial standpoint but more from the social and moral side of life itself. Constant association with growing minds yields modern interests and new wonders daily.

The teacher is the carbon of her pupils. That which she says and does in the classroom is remembered—for good or ill—by some child. The power of a splendid example cannot be measured, but its influence is ever perpetuated.

"The purpose of teaching is to show the pupil how to deal with life as we live it today." A child must be taught today to do better than he did yesterday.

A good subject, a clear purpose, an interested child, and an understanding teacher spell learning in the fullest.

AGRICULTURE

Frederic Woollard won the Purdue trip financially cared for by Mr. C. N. Teetor.

The Hagerstown department won the county pest contest and brought home the cup.

Paul Reed won third in the state in the Future Farmers Oratorical Contest and received a bronze medal. Paul also won in the local class oratorical contest sponsored by Mr. Spuller, the vocational teacher.

Blanche Paddock was awarded the Red Cross trip to Washington.

ATHLETICS

Our soft ball team won the county soft ball cup.

The Junior High basketball team, coached by Mr. Sedgewick, brought home the cup from the Mooreland tournament.

At the Centerville High School tournament our boys did the correct thing and now we are the possessor of that cup, also.

Morris Foutz, the only regular on the first team to graduate, received a sweater for his award. Lloyd Kuhn received a trainer letter.

Up to this writing Lloyd Hilbert, a Freshman; Maurice Daugherty, a Sophomore; and Martha Gebhart, a Junior, have not missed a single day of school. Sixty-six students have neither been absent nor tardy.

CLASS WILL

We, the Senior Class of '35, being of sound mind (?), etc., and realizing the uncertainty of this life, do will and bequeath our scholarly possessions to the following:

To the Juniors, our reputation as the silliest, most childish, and most discourteous class in school.

To Mr. Heniser, a class of long-faced Englishmen who will not crack a smile at his remarks.

To Miss Neff, a new baton endowed with her vim and vigor for her aspiring orchestra conducting students.

To Miss Van Horn, an adding machine for each member of next year's bookkeeping class.

To Miss Castle, a perfect way of explaining all the mysteries of the stock market.

To Mr. Cory, some way to help forgetful people like Frances Adamson to remember their locker combinations.

To Mr. Spuller, a pair of coveralls to lend atmosphere to his work.

To Mr. Sedgewick, a volume of Andersen's fairy tales for chapel entertainments.

To Miss Dutro, an ice ax for use on her next mountain-climbing expedition.

To Miss Lester, a pair of horn-rimmed spectacles and a ruler to aid her in assuming the role of hard-boiled school-teacher.

To Miss Morris, all the pounds that the Senior girls lost in their reducing campaigns to be added to her height.

To Mr. Cain, all the lipsticks and rouge compacts that he took from the Senior girls when they were in Junior High School.

To Mr. Lester, one of these "new fangled" haircuts.

To Mrs. McCurdy, a sound-proof room for the art class to make pottery in, for the especial benefit of the bookkeeping classes.

To Mr. Craw, our thanks and appreciation for all the help, advice, and passes he has given us in the last six years.

John Clements wills his curly hair and slightness of stature to Herman Bookout.

Nora Hall doth give her ability to tell stories of ancient history to Herman Cromis.

Charles Hormel bequeaths his serious nature and blonde curly hair to Robert Beeson.

Lloyd Paul Kuhn doth give his well worn chewing gum to Omar Dumford, provided he chews it in Miss Castle's and Miss Van Horn's classes.

Raymond Mendenhall wills Dick Warfel his big blue eyes, long lashes, and spectacles.

Barbara Stewart leaves her gift of gab to Olive Hines.

Georgia Scott wills her worries and her government and economics notebook to "Pete" Allen.

Frances Adamson gladly bequeaths her mania for saying the right thing at the wrong time to Mary Alice Harlan.

Eleneida Craig doth give her place in the double quartette to Marileen Shultz.

Virginia Bogue reluctantly gives her ability to burn the candle at both ends and in the middle to Marjorie Haisley.

Irene Troth wills her fussy feminine ways to Ruth Foutz.

Fred Allen bequeaths one perfectly good pair of suspenders to David Hunt.
Amerenthe Wescott leaves her old drawer in the art room to Ed Dale.
Morris Foutz bequeaths his place on the basketball team to Clarence Nicholson.
Lowell Lester doth will his popularity with certain Junior girls to "Hank" Reece.
Dorothy Foust gives to Blanche Paddock an introduction to two hundred Newcastle fellows.

Eugene Howell wills his studious and quiet ways to Paul Harris.
Jack Pass doth will a certain blonde Sophomore to Bob Hogue (with restrictions).
Doyle Brown leaves his perfect attendance record (?) to Bud Freeman.
Marjorie Brown gives a dozen loaves of "Singer" bread to the cafeteria.
Elizabeth Bruce bequeaths the something or other that changes her complexion from white to rosy red to Sarah Wisheart.

Naomi Personette wills her tooth-paste ad smile to Mr. Heniser.
Glen Ramey gives his strut to Dick Oler.
Edith Myers wills her serious and sophisticated ways to Helen Waltz.
Betty June Gray bequeaths her dimples and dignity to Ann Parsons.
Virginia Alfrey doth will her winning ways and her A's to Carlos Jordan.
June Hoover bequeaths her yellow De Soto to Betty Davis so that it will continue to come to the Hagerstown basketball games.

Mildred Miller doth give her tall blonde Richmond fellow to Reba Davis providing she stands up so that she can reach to his shoulder.

Dortha Innis bequeaths her boisterous ways to Leah Fern Gray.

Mary Jeanne Dougherty refuses to will anything; she declares that the many boy friends do not create a surplus.

Emogene Wilkinson leaves a carefully planned schedule for saving time to each of the Juniors. (Oh, how you'll need it!)

Fred Lannerd wills his position as general handy man and Jack-of-all-trades to Howard Bogue.

Jim Hartig doth will his immaculate attire and that Hollywood air to Walter Woodward.

John LaVelle gives a pocketful of change to any Junior who will not squander it by matching pennies.

Naomi Petry wills her quiet ways and auburn locks to Norma Beeson.

Frances Lee doth give her bookkeeping practice set to Harriette Fosnight. She can at least give the paper money to her kid sister.

Alfred Chamberlain bequeaths his eternal lisp and about five speeches on baseball to Don LaMar.

Larthenia Coomes doth will her habit of being late everywhere but to school to Frank Wright.

Virgil Halstead wills his many times read (?) book reports to Winifred Atkinson.

To all of our beloved schoolmates we wish to endow, with ideas of brilliancy and words of wisdom, plus all the other virtues that we so totally lacked.

THE CLASS PROPHECY

Last summer, while I was visiting an Indian Reservation in Montana, an old squaw, sitting at the entrance of her wigwam, asked to tell my fortune. She foretold such a happy future that I wished that I might learn the future of all my classmates. Evidently she read my mind, for she said that she would read the future of my friends at home for the string of beads I was wearing. I eagerly consented and she entered her wigwam. I began to really wonder what and where all my friends would be on this day of 1945. The squaw, as if in answer to my thoughts, reappeared and said:

Broadway at night flashes the name of Lee in millions of electric lights. Frances is now a famous actor in New York. Who'd thought it of Frances?

Virginia Bogue runs a matrimonial bureau. Many deserving men are finding wives, and efficient women are finding husbands. Strange to say, Ginger has not yet succumbed to the wiles of her many male correspondents.

Irene Troth is drawing Mickey Mouse basketball cartoons, since she couldn't learn to play the game herself.

John Leavell, the boy of all legs, is now a teacher in skiing. He informs the Seniors of '35 that lessons are free to them, providing they come to Switzerland. All aboard, Seniors!

Lloyd Kuhn is mail carrier in the Sahara. He is very well liked by the natives, because he is able to converse very well with them in their own language. He is daily acquiring the manner of a real sheik.

Naomi Personette is president of a Ladies' Aid, which spends its time making fur coats for poor and needy Hawaiians.

Jayne Wescott is engaged in teaching the little African children to play Tiddledy-winks. It is rumored that the League of Nations is contemplating passing a law forbidding such games of chance to be played, so we don't know what Jayne will do.

Doyle Brown operates an aeroplane to Mars, "especially recommended to honeymooners." In fact that is the way he got his incentive to start the line—to find a place to go for his own honeymoon.

Fred Allen and wife, Rosanna Roth, have taken Fred Allen and Portland's places on Radioland. They are making two very successful careers in discovering new salad dressings.

Alfred Chamberlain, Jr., has concocted a new hair groom that will part his hair as well as keep it combed. He is considering a gift of several bottles for each of the Seniors of '35.

Naomi Petry is one of the Ziegfeld Follies girls now playing at the Rivoli Theatre in Hagerstown. Home town talented! I'd say.

Charles Hormel is now teaching his young son, Charles Hormel, Jr., to be an "A" student and how to make more than "F" in deportment.

John Arthur Clements is an ardent Salvation Army leader in Millville. He has the hearty support of his Senior classmates.

Larthenia Coomes is owner of a factory which is making glass eyes for the fish in the Mammoth Cave.

Eleneida Craig holds the endurance prize for talking.

Mary Jeanne Dougherty, our peach orchard girl, has finally won her fame making peachcot for her splendid husband. I can't tell—you guess.

Morris Foutz and Jimmie Hartig are rowing a motor boat to Jerusalem, where they are going to cultivate dates. Incidentally they plan to see the world.

Betty Gray has started a rolling pin factory and is finding a ready market for her produce. She reserves a certain per cent of the output of her factory for her own private use.

Nora Hall is an efficient nurse. Her specialty is person suffering from appendicitis and sundry ailments.

June Hoover is selling loud speakers for the Aerialless, Tubeless, Bulbless Radio Co. You pay half down and the rest for life or until the thing wears out.

Dorotha Innis is married to Fred Lannerd and they have recently moved to his ranch. Dorotha is still the busy type of girl she was in school.

Lowell Lester is making a lecture tour. His subject, "God created woman as an experiment, man was the finished product," proves that Lowell still likes himself.

Ray Mendenhall is window washer in a school for the blind. In the evening he teaches the blind children the art of astronomy.

Mildred Miller is the most famous human fly and tight rope walker in the world. She is to appear in Hagerstown soon.

Edith Myers is resignedly turning the separator and gathering eggs on the Jack Pass farms. She says it keeps her busy.

Glen Ramey is judge of the Supreme Court and has just declared unconstitutional the bill for furnishing Iceland with lawn mowers. He gives as proof of his stand, page one of Noah Webster's dictionary.

Georgia Scott is matron of an orphan asylum for stray dogs and cats. She finds the work very entertaining.

Barbara Stewart is a model for white dresses and evening gowns in an exclusive shop on Fifth Avenue.

Emogene Wilkinson wins the hundred yard dash in the recent Olympic games. She has the reputation of being the fastest dasher in the world.

Virginia Alfrey has inherited a large tract of land and has developed it into a hobo's paradise where all may come free of charge. However, college graduates are preferred and get the best of treatments.

Marjorie Brown, or rather Marjorie Cox, is busy keeping appointments for tea and eating breakfast in bed while she reads the old Epitome of '35.

Gene Howell is now situated on the planet of Mars. Gene surely loves his astronomy.

Frances Adamson and Elizabeth Bruce are still that inseparable pair. They are now school-teachers in our local high school. They first considered running an old maids' dormitory.

Dorothy Foust is still trying to keep her friends of Newcastle and her Walter, who were frequent visitors at school.

Virgil Halstead is still trying to hitch his wagon to the stars.

Anticipation of fortune and fame has surely come true in many cases. The old squaw suddenly stopped. "That is all," she said, and ran to quiet her crying children. Evidently they were fighting over the molasses and feathers which she gave them to play with.

SENIORS AS THEY ARE

Frances Adamson—industrious and wise
Fred Allen—handsomest boy
Virginia Bogue—the best sport
Doyle Brown—neither here nor there
Marjorie Brown—Mr. Cox's choice
Elizabeth Bruce—loyalty itself
Junior Chamberlain—the best natured
Larthenia Coomes—tiny but there with the goods
John Clements—we know him by his gait
Eleneida Craig—timidity personified
Mary Jeanne Dougherty—the second "Peaches"
Dorothy Foust—Walter's choice
Morris Foutz—Wrigley's biggest buyer
Betty June Gray—a good scout
Nora Hall—deep water but quiet
Jim Hartig—our busiest boy
June Hoover—one we all like
Bud Hormel—the heartbreaker
Eugene Howell—a combination of quietness and industry
Dorothy Innis—a constant worker
Lloyd Kuhn—the class cut-up
Fred Lannerd—let me do what the rest prefer not to do
John Leavell—the longest of us yard sticks
Francis Lee—perseverance brings success
Lowell Lester—a V8 puffed up ready to go
Raymond Mendenhall—will I ever grow tall?
Mildred Miller—class artist
Edith Myers—give me a job and I'll show you how it's done
Jack Pass—the school pest
Naomi Personette—how she rolls them eyes
Naomi Petry—our quiet one
Glen Ramey—the woman hater
Georgia Scott—most conscientious
Barbara Stewart—the biggest talker
Irene Troth—our athlete
Amerenthe Wescott—most unusual
Emogene Wilkinson—a personality not just on the surface
Virginia Alfrey—a friend all might choose to hold
Virgil Halstead—"If at first you don't succeed, try, try again"

GLEANINGS FROM THE GREEN HOUSE

That there editor, bogue, she ask me if i are good at riteing themes. I telled her—sure. An'nen she tel me iare pretty smart 'an she want me to rite som'thin for the epitome. I dont like to rite things so i start to back out rite away but it didn't do no good so i guess i haf to rite it but i know how i get even with that there editor. I just rite som'thin that she cant make head or tale out of. My english teacher says i always rite that way.

If i haf to rite som'thin i guess i will say that the class of '35 is the bestest and mos' remarkablest class that ever will be graduated from ol' H. H. S. If u don't believe it u don't haf to but just reed the following.

WOOD you mind if i WRIGHT first that this class has a BROWN and GRAY PERSONette made by a certain Myers an' sold to HOOVER while on the way to a HALL near A DAM(son) in old GEORGIA (Scott). Then down through the GLEN (Ramey) he went to MARY (Jeanne Dougherty) Lee and HOWELL. She couldn't LESTER mother would give her consent.

INNIS HART (ig), the MILLER, ALL EN from walking to VIRGINIA (Bogue), dreams his HOrMEI needs MEND(enhall)ing and LEAVE(II)s. He sBRUCEs up to PASS the WESCOTT hotel where PETRY is taking her beTROTHal to HAL-STEAD, who was caught in the BARB(ara) wire.

CRAIG's brother CLEM(ent)s she COOMES from (Cham)BERLIN but FOUTZ says KUHN's should know better cause AL FREY WIL(kinson) hang a LANNERD in the window just to keep the home fires burning.

Now if that editor she is not satisfied with this she can just sit down and rite som'thin herself. I don't think she can see any sense in this but that dont make no difference. She isn't the only one.

ALUMNI LETTER

January 21, 1935

Dear Editor-in-Chief:

It was good of you to ask me for a message to the Epitome of 1935, and above all, you were thoughtful enough to enclose a form letter. Now all I need do is move the words around as in a cross word puzzle. It is so much easier this way, especially in the matter of spelling.

Almost half a century ago, it happened to me as it will soon to you. We of that time see a long vista as we look over the heads of line after line carrying on joyfully and bravely. Some would think of 1935 as forming the last rear line, but it seems nearer the truth to regard you as the new front.

It may seem a little sad to look back upon but three or four stragglers and to see one only abreast, but no, there are long, full ranks ahead. There is as much joy in that for me as for anyone. Each commencement time still seems the occasion for a fresh start.

So I extend congratulations and best wishes to the Class of 1935. If the going should become a bit rough, don't falter; we are behind you.

Sincerely yours,

Clark Wissler

OUR ALMA MATER

BY W. J. STAHR

INTRO, CON SPIRITO

VERSE

Hail Al - ma

Ma - ter your praises we will sing. We'll gather at your bid - ding and to you tri - bute bring. Your sons and daughters loy - al stand ever for the right and 'gainst each wor - thy foeman we will fight with all our might. -

CHORUS

Oh! H. H. - S - Our Al - ma Ma - ter were true to Thee for Auld Lang

Syne. Oh! H. H. S. The Gold and Purple Royal colors yours and mine float proudly fligh' right on to Vic'try - were in the bat - tle tried and true and win or lose were all for you H. - H. S. V.
